TOBACCO STATISTICS OF VIRGINIA.

Another Presidential Richmond in the Field. Exaggerated Reports of Blaine's Illness-Capital News and Notes.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 20 .- [Special.]-Some months ago it was positively stated in THE TIMES that Senator Quay would, under compulsion, resign the chairmanship of the National Republican Committee. At that time the asertion was denied by Quay. THE Trace subsequently published a list of members of the National Committee who had determined to oust Quay, and for that purpose had combined in favor of the election of John S. Clarkson. Now Quay practically admits that he will soon resign, and in corroboration of all The Times has hitherto said on the subject, it can now be stated that the anti-Quay faction of the committee ceased their agitation only upon mittee ceased their agitation only upon obtaining a pledge from him to resign. He pleaded for a little time in order that the incidents of the last Pennsylvania canvass and incidents of the last Pennsylvania canvass and other ugly developments might fade from the other ugly developments might fade from the public mind. The President has been scheming to get rid of Quay, but has been afraid to make an open fight. Now Quay dallies with the subject saying he may resign, "but has not decided," etc., because he wants a few more fat appointments from the President. He is satisfied that should he retire from the chairmanship of the National Committee he would lose his hold upon the President. Quay wants his pet, Gilkeson, now Second Comptroller of the Treasury, appointed to succeed Judge Schofield in the Court of Claims.

appointed to succeed Judge Schofield in the Court of Claims.

It is believed that the President wants to give the latter place to McComas, of Mary-land, whose political goose seems to have been most effectually cooked. Quay insists upon Gilkeson's appointment, and it is rumored has gone so far as to make that the price of his resignation. But as the President theory, that Quay must go anyhow it is not knows that Quay must go anyhow it is not believed he will yield to the political bucca-

The Census Office to-day gave out the to-bacco statistics of Virginia, compiled by Professor Thomas N. Conrad, under the direction of Mr. John Hyde, special agent in charge of the division of agriculture. The total number of planters in the State during the census year was 24,034; the total area devoted to to-bacco, 110,579 acres; the total product, 48,522,655 pounds; and the value of the crop to the producer, estimated on basis of actual sales, $4,323,649. A political friend of Governor Russell says the young Democratic Executive of Massa-chusetts has presidential aspirations, or will have in the event that he can win a re-election. It is plain that the Democratic party is not short on presidential material either at present or upon contingencies. We have four Governors who make up the contingent material—Campbell of Ohio. Boies of Iowa, Russell of Massachusetts and Patterson of Pennsylvania. The first three are candidates for re-election in their respective States, and their chances of ornamenting the National ticket depend entirely upon their winning. With Governor Patterson the stake is almost the same, as an election for minor State officers takes place in Penn-sylvania next fall, and the Democrats are watching and waiting to see if the young Governor can demonstrate a firm hold on the politics of the State by leading his party again to victory. Should all these Democratic governors win, that would certainly widen the field of Democratic possibilities so far as the National ticket goes.

As matters now stand ex-President Cleveand seems to have the lead for the nomina-tion, but with four such men as Campbell, Boies, Russell and Patterson, flushed with vic-tories which would make them stand before their parties like heroes, there might be a lively contest for the nomination.

Packed congregations greeted the Rev. Dr. J. B. Hawthorne morning and evening at the Baptist church yesterday. At the morning service the reverend gentleman took for his text the 7th verse of the 5th chapter of James: "Be patient, therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord," His sermon was very eloquent and was listened to with profound at-tention. At night occurred the anniversary exercises of the Young Men's and Wo-men's Missionary Societies of the church, when the report of these organizations were read, followed by an able discourse by Dr. Hawthorne on the subject of "Home Mission," more especially on the work in Cuba, at which island the speaker has spent several weeks. During the year ending June 30th the Women's Missionary Society collected $176.36, $150 of which amount was for the support of Mrs. Lottie Moon, of this county, for years a missionary to China. The Young Men's Society collected $349.67. Of this amount $250 will go toward the erection of a chapel in the northwest section of the city.

The address was bitter, and looked upon by the few Catholics who attended as a direct incenfew Catholics who attended as a direct incentive to an outbreak of religious strife in Montreal. Yet the remarks were applicated, and when he called on Orangemen to arise in their might and fight for the loyal cause the applause and cheering was deafening. He denounced the idolatry and disbelief of Catholicism in bitter werds. He claimed that the people of Quebec were priest-ridden, and through the Jesuitism of Mercier people were pauperized to the support of these men. Referring to Premier Mercier's proposed reception he alleged that Mercier was the robber of millions, and, said he, in ringing tones: "Orangemen, if you are stout of heart and loyal you will have a chance this week to avenge your wrongs on this man, the slave of Jesuits." THE PROPOSED "CREAMATORY."

A Dinwiddle Farmer Hopes It Will be Established.

DINWIDDIE COURTHOUSE, VA., July 20. Editor Times: I see from your columns that THE TIMES, realizing the importance of progress in new Southern enterprises, is ever ready to give an encouraging word to any legitimate movement tending to the development of the resources of the South and more particularly those of our own section. In this connection I would, in behalf of the farmers of this and adjacent counties, bespeak your kind offices in support of the creamatory, which there is some talk of being established in Richmond, and to which there is. I believe, some local opposition. I am well is, I believe, some local opposition. I am well aware that there is justly an objection on the part of housekeepers to having much milk part of housekeepers to having sation mix about their premises, as it attracts flies in large numbers, much to the annoyance of those who would keep a clean house or indulge in afternoon naps in these long, sultry, summer days. Still there might be some arrangement made to obviate this difficulty, and surely, with clean premises (and this is a necessity in good butter making) no objection sould be raised on the score of unhealth. tion could be raised on the score of unhealthi-ness.

In traveling through the counties in this section it is sad to see so many badly tilled fields and so large a proportion of the land lying idle. Labor, both field and in-door, is scarce and very hard to control. Western competition has made cattle raising of doubtful profit, and farm dairying in the ordinary way is a hardship on the farmer's family that most of us shrink from. Why can we not avail ourselves of this creamatory to utilize this ourselves of this creamatory to utilize this waste land? The first cost would be the stock and fencing, and afterwards the principal labor would be milking the cows. By a sys-tem of co-operation the farmers in a neigh-borhood could alternate in sending the cream to the nearest railroad station to be forwarded to the creamatory.

I trust that all objections to its establishment will be removed, so that we may have an ment will be removed, so that we may have an opportunity of increasing the income of the farm and take a heavy burden from the shoulders of the patient, overworked female members of the family. There is scarcely a farm in this section that has not a considerable acreage that can only be cultivated at a very small profit, if any, and some of it cannot be cultivated at all and yet would afford good pasturage.

A farmer could reduce materially his tilled acreage and with plenty of stock could grow better crops. This would go far to solve the labor problem in the field, and the creamatory would soften the labor problem in the house. Realizing the great importance of this cream-atory, I will await with much concern the objections being made to its establishment, and trust they may be overcome. So far as we country people are concerned, we are not particular as to the exact location in your city, if it is only accessible to our cream. Yourselvy, truly.

P. S.—Can you give us any idea of the price they will probably pay for cream?
